

Gemels: "Our great fortune to be able to help Anvolt"

The current emergency must not stop social commitment. Especially due to the difficult situation that we are facing, associations and the weaker parts of our society need to be supported.

Starting from this assumption, between the various initiatives promoted with a view to sustainability, to the commitment and responsibility of the society, the company GEMELS SPA of Trescore Balneario has been supporting Anvolt (National Association that fights against tumours) for over 10 years.

For the company, the possibility to help and support the community is defined as "a big fortune".

"In a society more and more concentrated on individualism – they tell us – we want to be different for our vision marked towards the community and support of the society. Not only during this emergency situation."

ANVOLT, active not only in terms of care and support for people but above all in prevention, has been present since 1984 with locations that cover the entire Italian territory, from Bolzano to Palermo.

The headquarters of Bergamo, founded in 2004, offers free dedicated assistance and transport services to cancer patients, giving their families and them psychological support for alleviating suffering and problems related to the disease.

In addition, it is dedicated to spread the culture of prevention as the best weapon of defense against oncological diseases. With this spirit, in the headquarters of Via Palma il Vecchio, it offers gynecological, dermatological, urological, senological, and nutritional preventive outpatient visits.
